Instructions for students

- Let students know that the survey is completely anonymous and no-one will know what they have said.
- They are not asked to write their name anywhere and should not write their own or any other name on the survey.
- They should read each question carefully before responding. There are back buttons if they want to change their response.
- The survey should take around 10 minutes to complete but may take some students longer if they are slow readers.
- The final page of the survey signposts students to local and national support organisations. i.e The Dock (Swindon), there is a direct link to the website. The web addresses for Childline and Young Minds are also included.

What we will provide for your school

- On completion of your survey we will produce a report that will display your data in an easy to read format.
- A separate report will be provided for each age group.
- We will highlight key findings from your data and suggest how data can be incorporated into PSHE/Health and wellbeing lessons to make them more meaningful to students.
- Any potential gaps in PSHE delivery will be reported, together with suggestions of how these areas could be covered.
- Your survey and subsequent report will provide good evidence of student consultation with regard to your provision of PSHE and personal development more generally.

Parents/carers

We have included a letter to parents/carers that you may wish to modify in line with your school policy.

The new statutory guidance allows parents to withdraw their children from sex education lessons until the term before their 16th birthday at which point students make the decision.

We recommend keeping parents informed and sharing results with them via your usual communication channels.

Parents are generally pleased that schools are supporting students in these important areas and are reassured by the emphasis on keeping children and young people safe.
